Biography

Andrea Iannone was born in Vasto, Italy, on 9 August 1989. He entered the 125cc World Championship in 2005 and took four victories. He raced in Moto2 from 2010 to 2012, winning eight races and finishing third in each of the three seasons.

In 2013 he entered MotoGP with Pramac Ducati. He joined the Ducati Team in 2015 and won the Austrian Grand Prix on the Desmosedici GP16 on 14 August 2016. He then raced for Suzuki in 2017 and 2018, and Aprilia in 2019.

In 2024 he returned to competition with GoEleven in WorldSBK, riding the Ducati Panigale V4 R. He took a podium on his debut weekend at Phillip Island and won Race 1 at Aragón. He continued with GoEleven for the 2025 season.

In 2026 he began a new chapter with Niti Racing in the FIM Harley-Davidson Bagger World Cup. On the race-prepared Road Glide he won on his Mugello debut weekend and took the series' first double victory at Aragón. He ended the inaugural season with three wins.

Away from the track, he worked with creative director Walter Giordano on the 2026 helmet series. Kind Regards is an independent fashion project; Racing Academy is in development.

Kind Regards

An independent fashion brand. Clothing, objects and accessories grounded in research into behaviour.

Kind Regards takes its name from a formal sign-off and brings it into everyday gestures: listening, observing and choosing when to speak. Instinct and discipline coexist. The project looks at restraint in relationships, attention and loyalty to people.

Racing Academy

A project in development, focused on learning the craft of riding.

Racing Academy begins with the wish to pass on experience gained on track. Its vision concerns a young rider's development: knowing the bike, preparing and learning to work with the people supporting that progress.
